

Sample Job Posting

Laboratory Technician

Healthy Hospital Dreamjob City, USA

The Laboratory Technician assists in the Research and Development department with all the laboratory-based tasks.

Responsibilities

- Assist in researching products and information for the lab
- Calibrate standard laboratory equipment
- Process and perform analytical testing on patient specimens
- Perform quality control procedures
- Evaluate and report patient test results
- Assist in running biochemical tests in the lab
- Ensure the laboratory is well-stocked and resourced
- Assist running various product development projects on an as needed basis

Skills Required

- Bachelor's Degree in a life science, chemistry or related field
- Meet qualifications of job through education, training or prior experience
- Ability to read and understand written and verbal job instructions and procedures
- Excellent written and oral communication skills
- Adequate computer skills for details of the job
- Able to problem solve and troubleshoot
- Able to analyze & interpret data

