

LINDSEY DIETZ MARCHANT:

Lindsey Dietz Marchant is a freelance dancer, choreographer, improviser and teacher living and working in NYC. She has been creating and performing work with her partner and collaborator, Jason Dietz Marchant, for the past 11 years. Performances have taken her throughout California, Connecticut, Florida, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont, and internationally in Australia, Canada, Costa Rica, Hong Kong, Indonesia, Russia, and South Africa; Internationally her work has been presented at conferences and festivals about dance and technology, dance and improvisation, and interdisciplinary performance. In NYC she has performed in curated events at theaters such as City Center Studio Theater, Dance Theater Workshop, Danspace Project at St. Mark's Church, The Duke Theater, Dixon Place, Dance New Amsterdam, The Evolving Arts Theater, Jack Tilton Gallery, Joyce SoHo, Judson Church, The Kitchen, La Mama e.t.c., Lincoln Center's Clark Theater, The Public Theater – Joe's Pub, P.O.P. Gallery, Riverside Church, Symphony Space, University Settlement, among many others.

