Dear Faculty;

Welcome back

I'd like to extend an invitation for research proposals to those that participate in our Prevention Research Center (see web site <http://www.oakland.edu/shs/preventionresearch>)

Our faculty research committee (Tami, Jennifer, Kristen and Melodie) have proposed research application guidelines, which I have reviewed and used, and are on our web site (also reached through our school site links)

The award number will vary each year as will the amount and awards are typically for members and also for junior faculty requiring seed monies for pilot projects and if possible, bridge monies for those more senior investigators requiring some additional funding for a project.

This year, the $$$$ amount will vary from $2,000 to $8,000 and can be used for hiring students, buying supplies or an added stipend. You may download the application preparation guidelines from our website and submit your proposal to the dean's office.

This year's deadline for submission is October 10, 2011.

We are here to help fund translational research which often goes beyond bench/laboratory science to directly benefit populations of the community with specific needs and healthcare issues.

Many Thanks,

ken
