Proposal for a Piano Pedagogy Major and a Combined Major in Piano Performance and Pedagogy in the Bachelor of Music Degree Program

Abstract

The Department of Music, Theatre and Dance has a long-standing Bachelor of Music program with majors in performance (instrumental, piano, or voice) and music education. The Department seeks to add a major in piano pedagogy to serve students who aspire to become studio piano teachers and a combined major in piano performance and pedagogy to serve students who aspire to both perform and teach. These programs would bring to Oakland University’s music program pianists with a wider range of goals, thus fostering growth in the music program.

The Department could offer the proposed programs with little change. The programs would require only four new courses, Piano Pedagogy III and IV (to follow the existing sequence Piano Pedagogy I and II), Piano Pedagogy Internship, and Senior Pedagogy Project. Students in the proposed program would take courses that serve all Bachelor of Music students and, specifically, piano performance majors. The proposed programs would not require additional faculty, space, or significant funding, and could begin upon approval.

The proposed majors would enable Oakland University to attract new students, better serve some of our current students, and better position Oakland in relation to our competitors.

Proposal for a Piano Pedagogy Major and a Combined Major in Piano Performance and Pedagogy in the Bachelor of Music Degree Program

The Department of Music, Theatre and Dance has a long-standing Bachelor of Music program with majors in performance (instrumental, piano, or voice) and music education. The Department seeks to add a major in piano pedagogy to serve students who aspire to become studio piano teachers and a combined major in piano performance and pedagogy to serve students who aspire to both perform and teach. These programs would bring to Oakland University’s music program pianists with a wider range of goals, thus fostering growth in the music program.

The Department could offer the proposed programs with little change. The programs would require only four new courses, Piano Pedagogy III and IV (to follow the existing sequence Piano Pedagogy I and II), Piano Pedagogy Internship, and Senior Pedagogy Project. Students in the proposed program would take courses that serve all Bachelor of Music students and, specifically, piano performance majors. The proposed programs would not require additional faculty, space, or significant funding, and could begin upon approval.

The proposed major would enable Oakland University to attract new students, better serve some of our current students, and better position Oakland in relation to our competitors.

Rationale

Over the last few decades, there has been a tremendous growth in the field of piano pedagogy. To insure consistency in teaching quality and overall standards, colleges and universities have expanded from offering a single pedagogy course to a sequence of multiple courses, to offering an emphasis, to, in more recent years, offering majors at various degree levels.

Since the late 1970s, Oakland has offered a Master of Music in Piano Pedagogy. At that time, the department chose to not offer an undergraduate degree in pedagogy because of a belief that students should strengthen their own performing abilities during their undergraduate years and then, should they decide to become studio piano teachers, study piano pedagogy on the graduate level. This is a common belief, shared within many music programs in the country. In fact, at the moment, no universities in Michigan offer a bachelor’s degree in piano pedagogy.

However, in reality, many piano performance majors choose not to pursue graduate work in performance and, instead, begin to teach without having had proper guidance or pedagogical education. Some undergraduate pianists begin to teach privately before earning their B.M. degrees. One reason piano pedagogical practice has been relatively inconsistent in the United States is a lack of education opportunities and failure to recognize the value of students’ learning to teach piano earlier in their educational careers. By offering an undergraduate piano pedagogy program at Oakland, we can provide this learning opportunity to students who know before coming to college that they want to choose private piano teaching as a career. Our ultimate goal is to provide an educational platform to enable students to become more successful performers and teachers.
Promoting the Mission and Goals of the University, Department, and Program

The proposed programs fit well within Oakland University’s mission to “engage students in distinctive educational experiences that connect to the unique and diverse opportunities within our region and beyond.” The proposed programs also contribute to the department’s capacity to “foster student success” by providing opportunities for students whose interests and goals the current offerings do not fully meet. In essence, students who complete the program will contribute to Oakland’s capacity to “serve the needs and aspirations of our communities and region;” the proposed programs will provide the region with better music instruction, serving our community’s families better than we do now.

As part of its mission, the Department of Music, Theatre and Dance “educates arts professionals,” “provides support for professional artists and arts educators,” and “provides leadership in the arts.” In its role within the Department, the Music Program offers pre-professional and professional education and support for performers, music teachers, and studio teachers. The Music Program also sponsors and fosters musical engagement experiences for the community and region.

The proposed programs fit solidly within the missions of the university, department, and music program.

Need for the Programs

Pianists who hope to pursue a professional performance career need to be studying at a leading conservatory and not at a university like Oakland. Oakland’s piano program serves many fine, accomplished pianists, but they are most often students who are not planning to pursue a performance career. Many of our piano majors are double majors: often Presidential Scholars or Honors College students who are pursuing degrees in programs like bio-chemistry or mathematics, while also completing the Bachelor of Music in Piano Performance degree program. These are exciting students who bring a great deal to the department and to Oakland University in general. Many of these students choose Oakland as a place to study piano and their second field because Oakland’s open-minded approach makes this possible. Schools like University of Michigan and Michigan State generally do not permit students to pursue two such comprehensive majors simultaneously. That we support and enable this work attracts these strong students to our program. Most of these students plan to pursue a career in their non-music major, but music and piano have been such a large part of their lives prior to coming to Oakland that they cannot imagine living without them, and therefore choose to pursue both majors.

Many of our other piano performance majors plan to pursue a career as a piano teacher, building and maintaining a private piano studio, teaching and enriching the lives of others in their community. While the current piano program serves the first group (students who come to Oakland intentionally to pursue a double major), we are not doing as much as we might in serving pianists who aspire to become professional piano teachers. The proposed programs would enable us to fill this gap.

Preparing arts educators is a strong focus in our department’s programs and adding this additional opportunity for students to learn to teach piano fits well within what is already happening in the department. (For the same reason, we are also in the process of developing BA and BFA degree programs in Dance Education.)
Goals and Objectives of the Programs

The overriding goal of the proposed programs is to serve students who aspire to become studio piano teachers or local performers and studio teachers.

Goals of the Music Program

Music students will develop:

- Goal 1. A comprehensive understanding of the relationships among sociocultural/historical perspective, theoretical analysis, and performance practice in music.
- Goal 2. Understanding of music in its historical and cultural context such that it enables them to support the growth of their musicianship, and enables them to have a better understanding of the music they perform, hear, and create.
- Goal 3. Firm grasp of the basic principles of the structure, design, and language of music in the Western musical tradition.
- Goal 4. Technical knowledge and vocabulary sufficient to approach music of any period, style, or genre.
- Goal 5. Ability to form a mental image of the sound of written music, and to translate heard music into written form.
- Goal 6. Technical skill, artistic integrity, and the ability to sight-read music of diverse styles and genres.
- Goal 7. Knowledge of technology appropriate to and in connection with their field of specialization.
- Goal 8. Knowledge of music literature appropriate to and in connection with their field of specialization.
- Goal 9. Where appropriate to the focus of the particular degree program, music students will develop understanding of learning and teaching and music learning and teaching sufficient to be able to engage in music teaching in their area of specialization.

Objectives of the Proposed Bachelor of Music in Piano Pedagogy Program

Bachelor of Music in Piano Pedagogy majors will develop strong skills in and knowledge of piano performance.

In applied piano study, students will:

- Obj. BPed1. Develop the ability to prepare successful and musically satisfying performances.
- Obj. BPed2. Develop efficient and effective practice skills for learning/memorizing music.
- Obj. BPed3. Develop technical proficiency on their instrument.
- Obj. BPed4. Expand their knowledge of music literature and genres.
- Obj. BPed5. Learn and apply theoretical concepts to music.
- Obj. BPed6. Learn a diverse repertoire representing many historical and interpretive styles.
- Obj. BPed7. Develop collaborative skills with other musicians.
- Obj. BPed8. Develop basic knowledge of pedagogical strategies, techniques, methods, materials, and repertoire.
In addition, through a sequence of piano pedagogy courses and practical experience, students will:

Obj. BPed10. Develop a curricular perspective and framework for teaching students of all ages at beginner, intermediate, and advanced levels.

Obj. BPed11. Develop basic understanding of how to work with all students, including young children, adults, and students with special needs.

Obj. BPed12. Develop understanding of how to enable students to build their technique.

Obj. BPed13. Develop approaches to providing students with the appropriate education in music theory, history, sight-reading, and aural awareness.

The Objectives of the Proposed Bachelor of Music in Piano Performance and Pedagogy program are the same, but with higher performance standards, comparable to those in the B.M. in Piano Performance program.

Program Plans

Music pedagogy programs are generally offered in conjunction with music performance programs. Performance and pedagogy students generally take many of the same courses but, where performance programs require additional credits in applied performance study, pedagogy programs require additional credits in the teaching of performance.

Program Components

Pedagogy Courses: Students enrolled in both the pedagogy major and the combined major would take 4 semesters of pedagogy courses, each designed to concentrate on a specific level of piano study. Each of the courses would be divided into two sections:

a) Lecture: Faculty would present lectures based on specific teaching topics in the areas of repertoire, technique, theory, history, aural awareness, sight-reading, psychology of music learning, and music as a business.

b) Microteaching Experiences: The best way to learn how to teach is to actually teach. At the beginning of each semester, each student would be given a description in terms of age, years of piano study, learning habits, personality traits, and etc. Students would then be partnered to teach each other. They would switch roles (teacher or student) each week and switch partners each month. Each teaching demonstration would be 30-minutes long. A good teacher is observant and able to anticipate challenges students may present. Therefore, while role-playing a young child, students would be asked to incorporate issues and behavior problems so their partner (the teacher) may have an opportunity to “solve” them.

Masterclasses with actual students: Each semester, we would provide two sessions where students would have opportunity to work with actual pre-college students.
Internship: Students would complete a one-semester internship through either the OU Music Preparatory Division or MTD’s partner, Evola Music, and receive satisfactory assessments from their employer.

Students enrolled in the B.M. in Piano Performance and Pedagogy program would (a) engage in all the above experiences and also (b) study performance on a higher, more comprehensive level and be held to the same performance standards as B.M. Piano Performance students. The combined major requires knowledge and proficiency in both performance and pedagogy.

Changes to Existing Piano Pedagogy Courses

Oakland currently offers two pedagogy courses. With one small wording change, these two course descriptions can stand in their present form. In both cases, the last phrase in each description would be replaced by language that better describes the processes in which students will engage in the context of these courses and the new curriculum: “Students will engage in paired microteaching and receive feedback from peers and teacher.”

MUS 441 (4541) - Piano Pedagogy I (2)

Instructional strategies for teaching the beginning piano student, including methods, materials and the use of music technology. Various aspects of establishing and managing a piano studio will be addressed. Weekly observations required. Students will engage in paired microteaching and receive feedback from peers and teacher. Prerequisite(s): permission of instructor.

MUS 442 (4542) - Piano Pedagogy II (2)

Instructional strategies for teaching the intermediate and advanced piano student, including methods, materials, repertoire and the use of music technology. Includes weekly observations and supervised teaching. Students will engage in paired microteaching and receive feedback from peers and teacher. Prerequisite(s): MUS 441 (MUS 4541).

New Courses

To serve both the BM in Piano Pedagogy and the MM in Piano Pedagogy programs, we are proposing to offer four additional courses (cross-listed at the 400 and 500 levels) to build on these extant courses and provide a stronger foundation for current and future piano teachers:

MUS 443$^1$ (4543) - Piano Pedagogy III (3)

Instructional strategies for teaching advanced baroque-classical repertoire, including score analysis, period performance practice, continued technical training, and musicianship development. Students will engage in paired microteaching and receive feedback from peers and teacher. Prerequisite(s): MUS 442 (4542).

---

$^1$ The course number MUS 443 was used for a different course created by MTD in 2001. We use it here as a placeholder since the course will not be offered until the 4-digit system is in place.
MUS 444 (4454) - Piano Pedagogy IV (3)
Instructional strategies for teaching advanced romantic-contemporary repertoire, including score analysis, period performance practice, continued technical training, and musicianship development. Students will engage in paired microteaching and receive feedback from peers and teacher.
Prerequisite(s): MUS 443 (4543).

MUS 445 (4955) - Pedagogy Internship (2)
One-semester internship teaching piano to students in a professional music studio setting under the direction and supervision of qualified piano instructors.
Prerequisite(s): MUS 444 (4544).

MUA 498 (4955) – Senior Pedagogy Project (2 or 4)
Culminating project for the pedagogy program through which students apply what they have learned about performance and pedagogy and demonstrate their understanding of pedagogic theory and practice. B.M. Pedagogy students enroll for 4 credits. B.M. Performance and Pedagogy students enroll for 2 credits.
Prerequisite(s): MUS 444 (4544).

Appendix B contains syllabi for these six courses.

Accreditation

The music programs at Oakland University are accredited by the National Association of Schools of Music (NASM). The proposed programs would be submitted to this accrediting body once approved by Oakland. Oakland cannot offer any music program until it is approved by NASM. The proposed programs were designed to follow NASM standards and we fully expect they will be approved in a timely manner.

NASM Standards for a Bachelor of Music in Pedagogy Program

E. Bachelor of Music in Pedagogy

The Bachelor of Music in Pedagogy may be justified only if an institution is adequately staffed and equipped to offer a significant number of specialized courses and internship opportunities in pedagogy.

Bachelor of Music programs in performance with less work in pedagogy than stipulated by these standards, but more than that normally expected for the performance degree, may designate pedagogy as an area of emphasis.

1. Curricular Structure

a. Standard. Curricular structure, content, and time requirements shall enable students to develop the range of knowledge, skills, and competencies expected of those holding a professional baccalaureate degree in pedagogy as indicated below and in Standards VIII.

b. Guidelines. Curricula to accomplish this purpose that meet the standards just indicated normally adhere to the following structural guidelines: study in the major area of performance, including ensemble participation throughout the program, independent study, and electives, should comprise 20-30% of the total program; supportive courses in music, 20-30%; courses in pedagogy, including comparative methodology and internships, 15-20%; general studies, 25-35%. Studies in the major area and supportive courses in music normally total at least 65% of the curriculum.

2. Specific Guidelines for General Studies. Study in such areas as psychology, learning theory, and business is strongly recommended.

3. Essential Competencies, Experiences, and Opportunities (in addition to those stated for all degree programs):

   a. Ability to organize and conduct instruction in the major performing medium, including performance at the highest possible level and understanding of the interrelationships between performance and teaching; knowledge of applicable solo, ensemble, and pedagogical literature; the ability to apply a complete set of musicianship skills to the teaching process; and knowledge of applicable technologies, particularly with respect to group instruction.

   b. Knowledge of pedagogical methods and materials related to individual and group instruction in a principal performing medium and opportunities to observe and apply these in a variety of teaching situations. This includes an understanding of human growth and development and understanding of the principles of learning as they relate to music teaching and performance. It also includes the ability to assess aptitudes, backgrounds, interests, and achievements of individuals and groups of students, and to create and evaluate specific programs of study based on these assessments.

   c. Opportunities for teaching in an organized internship program. Such programs shall be under the general supervision of the pedagogy faculty and shall involve a specific program of regular consultation between students and supervising teachers. At least two semesters or three quarters of supervised teaching are an essential experience.

   d. Solo and ensemble performance experience in a variety of formal and informal settings. A senior recital is essential, and a junior recital is recommended.

Note: Most Bachelor of Music students take their general education courses later in their undergraduate careers than might a typical Oakland undergraduate student. This is because of the relatively small amount of time given to arts education in K-12 schooling and the need to make up for lost time in the education of a future professional musician.
Bachelor of Music (B.M.) in Piano Performance and Pedagogy Program

Combined Major in Piano Performance and Pedagogy

We already know of current and future students who would like to pursue a combined major in piano performance and piano pedagogy. This makes good sense because, although many musicians who teach music do not perform professionally, most musicians who perform professionally also teach.

Oakland’s music program already offers a Bachelor of Music degree program that contains a combined major in Performance and Music Education. This program is described in the catalog as a combined major (and not a double major) because Oakland policy prohibits students from pursuing a double major when there is considerable overlap between the two majors.

If students wish to pursue a BM in both performance and pedagogy, to remain within Oakland policy, we need to offer a combined major: a Bachelor of Music in Piano Performance and Pedagogy. Therefore in the section that follows, we show what the information just shared would look like for the combined major.

Note that students would be required to complete all requirements for both the Piano Performance and the Piano Pedagogy degree programs. In reality, however, the only difference is the number of credits of applied study, the length and difficulty of the music studied, and the length of the senior recital (1 hour instead of 30 minutes). With the 1-hour recital (MUA 499), students pursuing the combined major would not also take MUA 498.

The NASM Curricular Table for the proposed combined program is on the next page.

Plan of Study for the Proposed Bachelor of Music in Piano Performance and Pedagogy

On the next page is a plan of study for students who wish to complete the Bachelor of Music in Piano Performance and Pedagogy program in 4.5 years.
Plan of Study: B.M. in Piano Performance and Pedagogy

Pianists tend to be very good students in all areas. The fifth year included above plans time for extra lessons and practice in anticipation of the recital. In reality, many pianists bring in AP courses or courses they took through dual-enrollment. Many also place out of basic theory and aural skills. A student such as one described here might complete the combined degree program in 4 years.

Academic Unit

How the Proposed Programs Serve the Goals of the Department

The Department’s statements of its role and mission include that

- The Department serves Oakland University by educating arts professionals.
- The Department serves the region by providing support for professional artists and arts educators.

The goals of the Music Program include:

Students will develop understanding of music, how it is created and organized, and how it functions within a broad range of styles, genres, and social, cultural, and historical contexts. This includes historical and theoretical knowledge of music as well as the knowledge and skills necessary to carry out musical performance, analysis, creation of original music, and teaching of music to others.

The proposed programs fall well within the Department’s and Music Program’s goals, mission, and role.

Further, the Department has always aspired to increase the size of the piano program, as it has always been a small program without strong leadership. With the current new faculty and these proposed programs, we have great potential for achieving this goal and better serving Oakland students and the region.

Staff Support for the Proposed Programs

The proposed programs would be a relatively small and should not require any additional staff support beyond the support of the rest of the music programs.

Faculty Qualifications

The faculty who teach the BM piano performance students are the same faculty who would be responsible for the proposed programs. No additional expertise would be required to offer this program.

Appendix A contains abbreviated curriculum vitae for the piano faculty.

Resources

The proposed programs have little additional cost. The bulk of the program is constructed of courses that serve all the BM programs and, in many cases, the BA in Music as well.

The proposed programs also would not require any additional space or equipment, as the courses would be taught in one of the current piano studios.
Academic Direction and Oversight

Tian Tian, Assistant Professor of Music–Piano, is the coordinator of the department’s keyboard programs. She would add responsibility for this new program to her current load. Professor Tian estimates that he spends about 5% of her time administering and coordinating these programs.

The three piano faculty work together closely to monitor the piano programs and student progress and success in these programs. These faculty would also function as the admissions committee for this program.

Catalog Description for the B.M. in Piano Pedagogy

Below, the catalog copy for the BM in piano performance is adapted for the proposed BM in piano pedagogy. Additions are shown with yellow highlights.

Requirements for the major in piano pedagogy, Bachelor of Music program

Admission to Music degree programs

Admission to the music degree programs at Oakland University (OU) is a two-tiered process, except for the B.A. in Music. The first step in the process for all students is the entrance audition. These auditions are held several times a year and determine whether or not a student will be admitted to OU in any of these degree programs. For all B.M. programs, the second step is the major standing audition, which determines whether students may continue in the program, and if they can be admitted into a professional program in the school.

Entrance auditions

Entrance audition days are held several times each year. The audition schedule and downloadable application are available on the school website at www.oakland.edu/music. Please submit application to the department office. Students should be prepared to demonstrate proficiency in their proposed area of specialization.

- Students seeking admission to Oakland University as music majors or auditioned music minors must audition for the music faculty.
- Students who audition and do not enroll within two semesters must re-audition.
- Students who enroll and leave school for at least two semesters must re-audition. Music students who enroll and leave school must re-audition and also retake the theory placement exam.

The Bachelor of Music degree is intended for students who wish pre-professional and professional preparation in music education and/or performance. Students should consult the Undergraduate Music Handbook available on the department website, oakland.edu/music and should also consult with the departmental adviser in the College of Arts and Sciences Advising Office to plan their degree program.
Only major courses in which a grade of at least 2.0 has been earned will count toward the major. For this program, MUS 131 satisfies the general education arts requirement. MUS 331 and 332 count as writing intensive in the major, and MUA 498\(^2\) counts as the general education capstone in the major.

Degree requirements are as follows:

Applied music - 24 credits (or placement)

- MUA101 Piano (4) (2 credits per semester, 4 credits total)
- MUA 201 Piano (4) (2 credits per semester, 4 credits total)
- MUA 301 Piano (4) (2 credits per semester, 4 credits total)
- MUA 401 Piano (2) (1 semester, 2 credits total)
- MUA 498 Senior Pedagogy Project (4)
- MUA 375 - Accompanying for Piano Majors (2)
- MUA 443 - Keyboard Skills for the Piano Major I (2)
- MUA 444 – Keyboard Skills for the Piano Major II (2)

Source of Students and Recruitment Plan

First, there are students in the current BM Piano Performance program who would opt to transfer into this track because they would prefer the pedagogy-oriented focus. The BM in Piano Pedagogy degree plan is constructed in a way that would allow all courses in the BM in Piano Performance Ed to count toward the BM in Piano Pedagogy. There are also current students who would choose to pursue the combined major in performance and pedagogy.

Second, we always market our undergraduate programs to the students and music teachers in the region and beyond. We would continue to do so, highlighting the new program, seeking to attract students who aspire to pursue careers as studio piano teachers.

We would also advertise the program in national professional journals read by piano teachers in hopes of attracting out-of-state students whose teachers might see our advertisement and suggest our program to potentially interested students.

Advising Students

The music faculty and CAS advisers who currently advise undergraduate music students would continue to do so.

Retention Plan

One purpose of proposing this program is to increase recruitment to and retention in the undergraduate piano program by offering two new programs (pedagogy and the combined degree program) that would be perceived as more relevant to some students we seek to serve.
Businesses that Would Employ Program Graduates

The students this program would likely become self-employed piano teachers. They would also be qualified to work for local businesses that provide music lessons to the community.

Needs and Costs of the Programs

New Resources Needed for the Programs

No new resources would be needed. All but 4 of the courses in the program are already offered. The new courses would fit into the course rotation in a pattern that would enable the current piano faculty to fit them into their current loads.

5-Year Budget and Revenue from Program

The goal is to grow the piano program enrollment. However, the pro forma budget is based on very small increases in enrollment because we are trying to be realistic. In spite of this, because the program essentially has no additional cost, it is profitmaking from the start.

The pro forma budget (p. 21) is based, conservatively, on 3 new students the first year and 2 new students each additional year, taking into account that students should graduate after 4 years.

Library

The library currently supports the BM in Piano Performance program. These current resources would also serve the proposed program.

The library has asked for an additional $500 to support this program, which is reflected in the pro forma budget. Note that, although the library asked for this line to be shown as increasing to support increased costs over time, the rest of the pro forma budget is based on 2015-16 funding, not reflecting the increased that are bound to occur (as is customary for budgets of this type at OU). We therefore carried the $500 across because, in reality, it will increase along with tuition, faculty pay, and cost of repairs, etc.

The library report is attached as Appendix C.

Classroom and Equipment

The proposed program requires no classroom space. The department has dedicated studio space that would be used for the courses that support this program. No non-departmental space would be used.

There are no equipment needs beyond what the department already has. Growth in the piano program would necessitate more frequent piano maintenance, so, with the exception of the first year, we have added $1,000 annually to the department’s piano maintenance budget.

Program Assessment Plan

Student achievement and success in the proposed program would be measured in the same ways the department assesses the other Bachelor of Music programs, through:

- Annual performance juries (performed as final examinations for applied performance study)
- Success in the program’s terminal projects (senior pedagogy project for pedagogy majors and senior recital for performance/pedagogy majors.)

From the department’s Assessment Plan:

Senior Recital

During the last semester of the Bachelor of Music in Performance program each student is required to perform a one hour Senior Recital. Performance majors perform on their major instruments or voice. The department’s Applied Music Committee. A recital committee is then selected (3 faculty, 1 of whom is generally the applied teacher). The student then performs a recital approval jury. Once the recital is approved, the student presents a public recital. The recital jury attends the recital and provides verbal and written feedback to the student.

Students must earn a grade of at least 3.0 in the recital in order to qualify for the degree sought. A sample assessment rubric for the senior recital is attached as Appendix C.

Student success in the recital is also a measure of the effectiveness of the music performance program.

The following language would be added to the department’s Assessment Plan to describe Senior Pedagogy Project:

Senior Project

When the Bachelor of Music coursework is complete or near completion, all pedagogy majors engage in a project that could involve performance, library research, and/or model teaching. Each student selects a topic under the guidance of the project adviser and completes the project with guidance from the adviser.

Students must earn a grade of at least 3.0 in the project in order to qualify for the degree sought.

Appendix A: Abbreviated Faculty Vitae

This section contains information about the three piano faculty. Students in the BM in Piano Pedagogy program would also be taught by and interact with numerous music faculty. Almost all full-time music faculty teach in the Bachelor of Music program.

COURSE CATALOG DESCRIPTION:
Instructional strategies for teaching the beginning piano student, including methods, materials and the use of music technology. Various aspects of establishing and managing a piano studio will be addressed. Students will engage in paired microteaching and receive feedback from peers and teacher.
Prerequisite(s): permission of instructor.

The course will provide instructional strategies for teaching beginning piano students through evaluating various methods, discussing teaching techniques, finding supplementary materials, and using music technology. Various aspects of establishing and managing a piano studio will also be addressed. Weekly observation is required.

LEARNING OUTCOMES:
By the end of the semester, students will be equipped with skills to:
1. Start a private studio: design a brochure, teaching philosophy and studio policy.
2. Maintain a studio: know the business side of a private studio, how to manage scheduling of lessons, payment, parking/lawn/property and safety policies.
3. Evaluate and choose the proper teaching method and philosophy for individual students.
4. Develop technique, reading, pulse, rhythm, theory and aural skills for beginner students.
5. Devise weekly plans for individuals using the chosen teaching method and address all elements listed in Item #4.

REQUIRED TEXT:
2. The Music Tree: Time to Begin, Music Tree 1, 2a, 2b

SUPPLEMENTARY TEXTS:
COURSE FORMAT:
To learn how to teach, one must actually teach. Each week, the course will introduce new philosophies, pianistic techniques/skills and business elements to help a young teacher to run a studio, and prepare the first 12 weeks of a beginner student’s study program. Each session will be broken up into 5 small fragments:

1. Discussion of weekly reading assignments – 30 minutes.
2. Discussion of weekly technique skills – 30 minutes.
3. Discussion of how to run a private studio as a business – 15 minutes.
4. Discussion of lesson plans from The Music Tree, and or other methods – 30 minutes.
5. Mini Lesson for a beginner student applying information discussed in Items 1-3 from the previous week – 30 minutes.

ASSIGNMENTS:
1. Weekly readings, due on the following class for discussion. Small assignments may accompany the reading to ensure understanding and application.
3. Class presentation of ONE teaching method, due 10/19/2015.
4. A teaching demonstration of an assigned piece, assigned times using the Mini-lesson sessions on 11/9 and 11/16.
5. Two teaching observations outside of class: one due on 10/12, one due on 11/30/2015.
6. Notebook: divided in 5 sections according to the class lectures. It should contain all readings notes, class notes, class handouts, and assignments.

GRADING:
General Grading System: A: 90-100%; B: 80-89%; C: 70-79%; D: 60-69%
No Credit: F: below 60% - has not completed requirements, nor withdrawal officially before drop date.

Specific Class Grading System:
Class Assignments and Presentations: 40%
Class Participation and Attendance: 10%
Teacher Observations: 10%
Notebook: 15%
Final: 25%

CLASS POLICIES:
1. Academic conduct policy: All members of the academic community at Oakland University are expected to practice and uphold standards of academic integrity and honesty. Academic integrity means representing oneself and one’s work honestly. Misrepresentation is cheating since it means students are claiming credit for ideas or work not actually theirs and are thereby seeking a grade that is not actually earned. Following are some examples of academic dishonesty:
   a. Cheating on examinations.
   b. Plagiarizing the work of others. Plagiarism is using someone else’s work or ideas without giving that person credit; by doing this students are, in effect, claiming credit for someone else’s thinking.
   c. Falsifying records, or providing misinformation regarding one’s credentials.
   d. Unauthorized collaboration on computer assignments and unauthorized access to and use of computer programs, including modifying computer files created by others and representing that work as one’s own.

2. Add/Drops:
The university policy will be explicitly followed. It is the student’s responsibility to be aware of deadline dates for dropping courses.

3. Special Considerations:
Students with disabilities who may require special accommodations should make an appointment with campus Disability Support Services, 106 North Foundation Hall, phone 248-370-3266. Students should also bring their needs to the attention of the instructor as soon as possible by providing the “Letter of Accommodations” created by DSS. For academic help, such as study and reading skills, contact the Academic Skills/Tutoring Center, 103 North Foundation Hall, phone 248-370-4215.

4. Excused Absence Policy
This policy for university excused absences applies to participation as an athlete, manager or student trainer in NCAA intercollegiate competitions, or participation as a representative of Oakland University at academic events and artistic performances approved by the Provost or designee.
Students shall inform their instructors of dates they will miss class due to an excused absence prior to the date of that anticipated absence. For activities such as athletic competitions who schedules are known prior to the start of a term, students must provide their instructors during the first week of each term a written schedule showing days they expect to miss classes. For other university excused absences students must provide each instructor at the earliest possible time the dates that they will miss.
Make-up work
   o It is the responsibility of the student to request from the instructor an opportunity to complete missed assignments, activities, labs, examinations or other course requirements in a timely manner.
   o Students are responsible for all material covered in classes that they miss, even when their absences are excused, as defined above.
   o Missed classroom activities will be rescheduled at the discretion of the instructor.

5. Attendance Policy: NO UNEXCUSED absences are allowed. TWO EXCUSED absences are allowed with completion of assignments. 5% will be dropped for each unexcused absence, or excused absences above two.

6. Assignments must be submitted by the due date.

7. Missed presentations will not be made up.

8. Reading materials outside of the required textbook will be posted Moodle, or handed out in class.

9. No texting or phone calls during class.

COURSE CATALOG DESCRIPTION:
Instructional strategies for teaching the intermediate and advanced piano student, including methods, materials, repertoire and the use of music technology. Students will engage in paired microteaching and receive feedback from peers and teacher.
Prerequisite(s): MUS 441 (4541).

The course will provide instructional strategies for teaching intermediate – early advanced piano students who are close to completing, and/or are beyond method books (3-6 years of study). The course will also introduce different Achievement tests available around the country, and discuss how teachers can successfully prepare their students for each. We will also continue to discuss techniques, repertoire and musicianship development. Since this is the second semester of Pedagogy, we would focus more on hands-on teaching experiences, which will include student-teach opportunities and observations.

LEARNING OUTCOMES:
By the end of the semester, students will be equipped with skills to:
1. Continue to successfully maintain a studio by following the studio philosophy and policy.
2. Be familiar with repertoire beyond method books.
3. Develop technique, reading, pulse, rhythm, theory and aural skills for intermediate students.
4. Devise weekly plans for preparing students for achievement tests, concerts and competitions.

REQUIRED TEXT:
3. Bastien Repertoires 3 and 4

SUPPLEMENTARY TEXTS:
6. Supplementary Scores: Specific scores will be used for class discussion and teaching demonstration. There will be a separate list and will be updated as the semester progresses.

COURSE FORMAT:
To learn how to teach, one must actually teach. After one semester of Pedagogy, students are expected to demonstrate teaching skills by applying knowledge learned and discussed in class. Each week, there will be two separate sessions:
1. 75-minutes: Lecture on specific topics and teacher teaching-demo.
2. 60-minutes: Student teaching demo. Each week, two groups will each teach a 30-minute lesson, addressing specific issues and tasks.

ASSIGNMENTS:

1. Readings, due on the following class for discussion. Small assignments may accompany the reading to ensure understanding and application.
2. Teaching Demonstrations.
3. Two teaching observations outside of class: one due on 2/11/2016, one due 3/31/2016.

GRADING:

General Grading System: A: 90-100%; B: 80-89%; C: 70-79%; D: 60-69%

COURSE CATALOG DESCRIPTION:
Instructional strategies for teaching advanced baroque-classical repertoire, including score analysis, period performance practice, continued technical training, and musicianship development. Students will engage in paired microteaching and receive feedback from peers and teacher.
Prerequisite(s): MUS 442 (4542).

As some teachers are comfortable with focusing their work on beginner-intermediate students, it would be a pity to limit ourselves to only a small group of pianists. This course will provide instructional strategies for teaching advanced repertoire from pre-Baroque to Beethoven. We will discuss score analysis for the piano teacher and for the pianists, as well as the technique and musicianship required to play masterworks of the piano repertoire. This course will overlap with the Piano Literature classes so that the repertoire can be introduced in one and students can learn how to teach them in the other.

LEARNING OUTCOMES:
By the end of the semester, students will be equipped with skills to:
1. Continue to successfully maintain a studio by following the studio philosophy and policy.
2. Understand how to teach advanced repertoire, such as Scarlatti Sonatas, Bach Suites and Preludes and Fugues.
3. Develop technique, reading, pulse, rhythm, theory and aural skills for advanced students.
4. Devise weekly plans for preparing students for concerts and competitions.

REQUIRED TEXT:
1. CPE Bach: Essay on the True Art of Keyboard Playing
2. Bach WTC I and II; Bach Suites
3. Haydn Piano Sonatas
4. Mozart Piano Sonatas

SUPPLEMENTARY TEXTS:

COURSE FORMAT:
Teaching advanced repertoire and students is completely different from beginners. Teachers must be learned in theory and music history as well as piano techniques. Each class will be more focused on score analysis, interpretation and teaching demonstrations:
1. Score analysis: 30 minutes.
2. Technique breakdown, learning approaches and practice methods: 15 minutes.
3. Teaching demonstration: 30 minutes.
4. Student teaching demonstration: 30 minutes.
ASSIGNMENTS:
1. Weekly repertoire analysis, due on the following class for discussion.
2. Teaching summary on a composer of choice: Scarlatti, Haydn, Clementi, or Mozart.
3. Three recorded teaching demonstrations with pre-college students.
4. Two teaching observations outside of class: one due on 10/12, one due on 11/30/2015.
5. Notebook: divided in 5 sections according to the class lectures. It should contain all readings notes, class notes, class handouts, and assignments.

Term: Winter 2018
Class Time: Mondays 4:00-6:30 pm; Room 310 Varner
Office Hours: By appointment

COURSE CATALOG DESCRIPTION:
Instructional strategies for teaching advanced romantic-contemporary repertoire, including score analysis, period performance practice, continued technical training, and musicianship development. Students will engage in paired microteaching and receive feedback from peers and teacher. Prerequisite(s): MUS 443 (4543).

As some teachers are comfortable with focusing their work on beginner-intermediate students, it would be a pity if we are limited to only a small group of pianists. The course will provide instructional strategies for teaching advanced repertoire from pre-Baroque to Beethoven. We will discuss score analysis for the piano teacher and for the pianists, as well as the technique and musicianship required to play masterworks of the piano repertoire. This course will overlap with the Piano Literature classes so that the repertoire can be introduced in one and students can learn how to teach them in the other.

LEARNING OUTCOMES:
By the end of the semester, students will be equipped with skills to:
1. Continue to successfully maintain a studio by following the studio philosophy and policy.
2. Understand how to teach advanced repertoire, such as Scarlatti Sonatas, Bach Suites and Preludes and Fugues.
3. Develop technique, reading, pulse, rhythm, theory and aural skills for advanced students.
4. Devise weekly plans for preparing students for concerts and competitions.

REQUIRED TEXT:
1. Barry Green: The Inner Game of Music
2. Beethoven Piano Sonatas
3. Chopin Nocturnes and Waltzes
4. Schumann Piano Works, Album I
5. Debussy Preludes, Book I

SUPPLEMENTARY TEXTS:

COURSE FORMAT:
Teaching advanced repertoire and students is completely different from beginners. Teachers must be learned in theory and music history as well as piano techniques. Each class will be more focused on score analysis, interpretation and teaching demonstrations:
1. Score analysis: 30 minutes.
2. Technique breakdown, learning approaches and practice methods: 15 minutes.
3. Teaching demonstration: 30 minutes.
4. Student teaching demonstration: 30 minutes.
5. Paired student microteaching demonstration: 30 minutes.
6. Individual one-on-one meetings between faculty and student to discuss specific issues related to teaching and studio management.

ASSIGNMENTS:
1. Weekly repertoire analysis, due on the following class for discussion.
2. Teaching summary on a composer of choice: Beethoven, Schubert, Chopin, Liszt, or Schumann.
3. Three recorded teaching demonstrations with pre-college students.
4. Two teaching observations outside of class: one due on 10/12, one due on 11/30/2015.
5. Notebook: divided in 5 sections according to the class lectures. It should contain all readings notes, class notes, class handouts, and assignments.

GRADING:
General Grading System: A: 90-100%; B: 80-89%; C: 70-79%; D: 60-69%
No Credit: F: below 60% - has not completed requirements, nor withdrawal officially before drop date.

Specific Class Grading System:
Student-Teach Observation: 25%
Class Assignments and Presentations: 20%
Teacher Observations: 10%
Class Participation and Attendance: 10%
Notebook: 10%
Final: 25%

CLASS POLICIES:
1. Academic conduct policy: All members of the academic community at Oakland University are expected to practice and uphold standards of academic integrity and honesty. Academic integrity means representing oneself and one’s work honestly. Misrepresentation is cheating since it means students are claiming credit for ideas or work not actually theirs and are thereby seeking a grade that is not actually earned. Following are some examples of academic dishonesty:
   a. Cheating on examinations.
   b. Plagiarizing the work of others. Plagiarism is using someone else’s work or ideas without giving that person credit; by doing this students are, in effect, claiming credit for someone else’s thinking.
   c. Falsifying records, or providing misinformation regarding one’s credentials.
   d. Unauthorized collaboration on computer assignments and unauthorized access to and use of computer programs, including modifying computer files created by others and representing that work as one’s own.
2. Add/Drops:
The university policy will be explicitly followed. It is the student’s responsibility to be aware of deadline dates for dropping courses.
3. Special Considerations:
Students with disabilities who may require special accommodations should make an appointment with campus Disability Support Services, 106 North Foundation Hall, phone 248-370-3266. Students should also bring their needs to the attention of the instructor as soon as possible by providing the “Letter of Accommodations” created by DSS. For academic help, such as study and reading skills, contact the Academic Skills/Tutoring Center, 103 North Foundation Hall, phone 248-370-4215.
4. Excused Absence Policy
This policy for university excused absences applies to participation as an athlete, manager or student trainer in NCAA intercollegiate competitions, or participation as a representative of Oakland University at academic events and artistic performances approved by the Provost or designee.
Students shall inform their instructors of dates they will miss class due to an excused absence prior to the date of that anticipated absence. For activities such as athletic competitions who schedules are known prior to the start of a term, students must provide their instructors during the first week of each term a written schedule showing days they expect to miss classes. For other university excused absences students must provide each instructor at the earliest possible time the dates that they will miss.

Make-up work
- It is the responsibility of the student to request from the instructor an opportunity to complete missed assignments, activities, labs, examinations or other course requirements in a timely manner.
- Students are responsible for all material covered in classes that they miss, even when their absences are excused, as defined above.
- Missed classroom activities will be rescheduled at the discretion of the instructor.

5. Attendance Policy: NO UNEXCUSED absences are allowed. TWO EXCUSED absences are allowed with completion of assignments. 5% will be dropped for each unexcused absence, or excused absences above two.

COURSE CATALOG DESCRIPTION:
One-semester internship teaching piano to students in a professional music studio setting under the direction and supervision of qualified piano instructors.
Prerequisite(s): MUS 444 (4544).

Faculty will arrange internship positions at local music stores, or through the university preparatory program, so that students can be supervised and receive constant feedback. If the internship proves to be positive for all parties, students have the opportunity to apply for a permanent position.

LEARNING OUTCOMES:
By the end of the internship, students will be equipped with skills to:
1. Interview successfully.
2. Maintain a position at a music store, or preparatory program.
3. Recruit students for his/her own studio.
4. Understand the administrative and business aspects of managing a studio.
5. Devise weekly plans for teaching students of different levels.

COURSE FORMAT:
1. Students will work 8 hours per week during the internship. A time sheet and work log must be kept and turned in at the end of internship for reviews.
2. Teaching load may include group classes, and/or one-on-one individual lessons, based on need.
3. If teaching load is less than 8 hours, students may observe other teachers to fulfill time requirement, or be given administrative responsibilities.
4. Every 4 weeks, surveys will be given to managers and parents for feedback.
5. Faculty will meet with students after each set of survey is conducted to discuss specific issues and possible improvements.
6. Faculty will observe 2 lessons, per month to provide direct feedback.

ASSIGNMENTS:
1. Students must turn in a time sheet, signed or initialed by employer indicating attendance.
2. Students must keep a work log and journal recording their teaching experiences and progress.
3. Students must keep all surveys and make clear improvements when issues are addressed.
4. Students must keep a record of all one-on-one meetings with faculty, noting issues discussed and areas of improvement.
5. At the end of the internship, a survey is conducted to serve as the final for this course.

GRADING:
General Grading System: A: 90-100%; B: 80-89%; C: 70-79%; D: 60-69%

Culminating project for the pedagogy program through which students apply what they have learned about performance and pedagogy and demonstrate their understanding of pedagogic theory and practice. B.M. Pedagogy students enroll for 4 credits. B.M. Performance and Pedagogy students enroll for 2 credits. Prerequisite(s): MUS 444 (4G4G).

This project serves as the capstone course for the BM Pedagogy, and is a required terminal project for the Combined BM Performance/Pedagogy degrees. Students can choose from a variety of research topics, relating to piano performance and pedagogy. Faculty advisor will meet regularly with students to provide supervision and feedback. This will be cumulative project, in which students must apply all knowledge, and demonstrate a full understanding of pedagogic theories and procedures. A public presentation must be completed to a live audience, including all members of the piano faculty.

LEARNING OUTCOMES:
By completing the project, students will learn to:
1. Conduct thorough research relating to project topic,
2. Organize, combine, and apply all knowledge learned to actual teaching,
3. Present lectures to an audience,
4. Improve stage presence and public speaking.

COURSE FORMAT:
1. BM Pedagogy majors will register for MUA 498 (4955) for 4 credits. The presentation must be a minimum of 50 minutes, including a minimum of 25 minutes of playing demonstration. Students must be able to perform the pieces discussed, or used as examples in full.
2. Combined BM Performance/Pedagogy majors will register for MUA 498 (4955) for 2 credits. The presentation must be a minimum of 30 minutes, including some playing demonstration.
3. Final presentations will be video recorded for future references.

ASSIGNMENTS:
1. Students must keep journal recording research progress.

Re: Library collection evaluation for proposed addition of a piano pedagogy major within the Bachelor of Music degree

Date: March 4, 2016

To conduct this Library collection evaluation for the proposed addition of a piano pedagogy major within the Bachelor of Music degree, we reviewed the draft program proposal in relation to the University Libraries’ current resources in music and music education. Since a Master of Music in Piano Pedagogy degree and piano pedagogy courses at both the undergraduate and graduate levels have been offered by Oakland University for quite some time, and a Ph.D. in Music Education is also currently offered by the Music Department, the Libraries’ resources are already quite strong in this area. Overall, the Libraries’ current offerings are more than sufficient to address the teaching, research and learning needs of faculty and students for this proposed new undergraduate major. In order to compile this collection evaluation, we consulted Magazines for Libraries and the holdings of other university libraries which offer similar programs. The following is our assessment of the Libraries’ ability to support the proposed new major.

Reference Sources and Periodical Indexes
The University Libraries subscribe to the premier music reference resource, Oxford Music Online which includes Groves Music Online, The Oxford Companion to Music, and The Oxford Dictionary of Music. The Credo Reference collection offers The Harvard Dictionary of Music, Musical Terms, Symbols and Theory: An Illustrated Dictionary, The New Penguin Dictionary of Music, and other titles. The University Libraries also subscribe to numerous major periodical indexes that would support the proposed new major, many of which also provide full text access. These include the EBSCO indexes Music Index, Education Full Text, ERIC, and OmniFile Full Text Select. Additionally, the Libraries subscribe to the Gale indexes Academic OneFile and Expanded Academic ASAP, as well as the Education: SAGE Full Text database. A great majority of the journals which would support the proposed new major and to which the University Libraries subscribe (see Appendix A) are indexed in these resources.

Music Instruction and Study Journals
As mentioned above, see Appendix A for a sample list of journals that would support the proposed piano pedagogy major for the Bachelors in Music degree program. This list includes the core journal titles in this field that are recommended in Magazines in Libraries. A comparison to resources held by other universities that offer similar programs was conducted and it was found that the University Libraries have a very strong journal collection and hold the major scholarly journal titles in this field. The Libraries also subscribe to music journals peripheral to this new proposed major, such as Ethnomusicology, American Music, Black Music Research Journal, and Journal of the Society for American Music, among others.

Monographs

The University Libraries has a strong music monograph collection which has been regularly supported through the years through annual resource allocations to the Music Department. For the current fiscal year, the music department is currently allocated $4,500.00 for the purchase of resources. See Appendix B for the total number of print monographs held by the University Libraries in the Library of Congress Classification range of MT1-MT258 for Music Instruction & Study Including Keyboard Instruments as well as the number of print monographs added in this classification range since 2010. In addition to print monographs, the University Libraries own 30 Ebooks indexed under “Music Instruction & Study.” Included in this Ebook collection is Music Education for Changing Times: Guiding Visions for Practice, published by Springer in 2009, Narrative Soundings and Resonant Research: Lifework in Music Education, published by Springer in 2010, and The Oxford Handbook of Qualitative Research in American Music Education, published by Oxford University Press in 2014.

Searches of GOBI, the online book ordering service from the University Libraries’ primary book vendor demonstrate that there are about 80 books per year that are published in the relevant Library of Congress classification ranges that would support this proposed major. Many of these titles are considered “basic recommended” or “research recommended.” The average cost of these titles is $94.00 per book. We would recommend a purchase of a minimum of five new monographs per year to continue to support this proposed new undergraduate major. See the Monographs/Reference Books line in Appendix C for the costs needed to support these acquisitions.

Support for Current Library Resources

As noted throughout this collection evaluation, the University Libraries already provide access to a rich collection in music education and resources that are more than sufficient to support the teaching, research and learning needs of faculty and students for this proposed new undergraduate major. However, due to anticipated annual inflation cost increases for journals, reference resources, indexes, and databases, the Libraries cannot guarantee that we will be able to maintain subscriptions even to our current resources. Therefore, we ask that the library be given $500.00 per year to assist us in funding these resources that are critical to the Bachelor of Music degree with a piano pedagogy major, as well as to the entire Music Department.
